

GlobalFares – The Next Generation – Development Impact to EDIFACT Select

GlobalFares™—The Next Generation provides new state-of-the-art capabilities to price and shop for airfares. Travel agents, corporations, and consumers, who use Galileo-powered products, can benefit from improved capability to price complex itineraries and enhanced ability to shop for the best fare.

Two development impact documents have been created to assist you in understanding the impact of GlobalFares—The Next Generation, on your existing applications.

One of the documents (FAR Request and Response Version 00.1 and ITP Request and Response Version 00.1) describes the current phase of the GlobalFares enhancements and notifies of specific transaction changes related to screen scraping enhancements.

The other document (FAR Request and Response Version 98.1 and ITP Request and Response Version 96.2) relates to the same impacts of the structured data enhancements.

It is important to review this document and determine the impact(s) to current applications developed using Inside Access and/or EDIFACT Select.

The documents may be access via the following links:
